THE PESTILENCE.

One Hundred and Thirty New Cases and Fourteen Deaths.

Unprecedented Physicians and Nurses Not Deceived—The Situation at Jacksonville and Other Points Affected.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 19.—Unusual excitement prevails to-day in consequence of the very sudden rise in the bulletin for yesterday and the various suspicious cases, designated by different names, but now feared to be yellow fever. Private advices from friends at Hendersonville coincide with the official reports. Only two deaths, and all cases closely confined to the refugees. Three hundred refugees there now, eight of whom are from Camp Perry. As soon as the refugees arrived at Hendersonville, those who had means fixed up a hospital for the sick, defraying the expenses. The sanitary association contemplates putting a large number of laborers on the streets. The board of health states plainly that yellow fever is not here. No new cases are not desired, nor will be employed. Better arrangements are made for the feeding of nurses on duty, and three new commissioners have been established for supplying the indigent sick with mattresses, blankets and other supplies. The situation at Jacksonville is well known. At Jacksonville and Glen St. Mary's is in possession of Mrs. John V. L. Fyvie, of Albany.

A LARGE DOG.

Beauties of Philimmon, the Famous St. Bernard.

His Stature as Compared in That of General Tom Thumb—His English Master's Grief at Having Consumed by a Five-Thousand-Dollar Check.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The massive St. Bernard dog Philimmon, or Phil, as he is more familiarly known, was a deck passenger on the steamer Brittonia, which arrived to-day from Liverpool. Phil is a magnificent beast. He is the purest St. Bernard breed, and traces his ancestry back to the noblest of the four-footed saviors of the Alps. Phil comes directly from Marshall's Plinian, sire, and Beale II, dam, of the famous Bayard strain. He is, in all probability, one of the most perfectly proportioned dogs of the St. Bernard breed ever brought to this country.

A low pelt, great width between the eyes, very slight depression between nose and crown, denotes his ancestry. A singularly mild eye of almost human expression invests him with the visible sign of what appears to be more than brute instinct. From the toe of the forefoot to the end of the fore-shank bone he measures 33 1/2 inches. The barrel at the fore-shank is big enough to fill out the chest of a man who measures 33 inches around the chest. The extreme height between the top of the head and the heels of the forefeet is 15 inches. Tom Thumb, if alive, could not stroke Phil on the nose without getting on a platform. Such dwells as Admiral Dot or Lucia Zarate would scarcely have to duck their heads to walk under this dog's belly. Phil's markings constitute one of his chief points of merit. A muzzle which is mathematically correct in its length, according to the St. Bernard standard, presents a black mask running from eyes to jaw. From the edge of the black nose, running up between the eyes, and an inch between, the hair is white. Legs and paws are white, the collar is white, and the body is a rich liver color, slightly lighter in shade than the Irish setter, and white, Phil's greatest beauty, however, from a fancier's point of view, lies in his silky ears and his lips. This makes the fourth time that Phil has changed owners. Three times he was sold for $500 each because he was the champion cup dog, no less than the champion of the world. He has won his times one hundred points was his average. The late Kaiser Wilhelm, it is asserted, gave him a magnificent necklace, and he has traveled in first-class coaches. He was last purchased in Leeds, Eng., from a gentleman named Smith, who went to him for $5,000.

A Farmer Swindled.

ALTON, Ill., Sept. 21.—Z. Brown, an old resident of Godfrey, was swindled out of $2,500 yesterday. A man calling himself Dr. Williams, claiming to be from New York, and representing himself as a member of the conference of Mrs. Brown, pretending to want to buy his farm, and offered Mr. Brown a large sum for the farm, which was accepted. Brown was induced to put up $2,500 as a forfeit if he did not keep his bargain. They drove in town together and the stranger, who was from the West, told him to put the money into a box, and appeared to, and then handed the box back to Brown, telling him he could keep it. Williams made some excuse and went away. Soon Brown opened the box and the money was gone. Williams has not been found.

Youthful at Ninety-Nine.

RITCHIE, C. I., W. Va., Sept. 21.—One of the most remarkable men in West Virginia resides in Ritchie county. His name is George Linnet, and he recently attained his ninety-ninth year. ## THE SOUTHERN SCOURGE.

Lower Death Rate at Jacksonville—Deceit Almost Depopulated.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 23.—Another Sabbath has dawned in this scourge-ridden city. About the only way that we know that it is Sunday is that the calendar says so, and because there are not so many negroes on the street near the commissary room. All other signs are missing. No joyous peals of church bells bring out gaily dressed throngs of people, young and old, but, instead, a funeral stillness reigns that is very depressing. The doctors' carriages dash through the streets on their errands of mercy, and, with the hearse, remain the only vehicles to be seen. This morning's report seems more favorable, though it may be only temporary. While yesterday's record of new cases was the largest of many days yet, the death rate was quite low, and as the gathering hope from straw, so this slight change makes many feel very much encouraged.

President Neil Mitchell issues the following official bulletin for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 p. m., September 23: New cases, 133; deaths, 10. Total number of cases to date, 1,528; total number of deaths to date, 212. Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 23.—A special to the American from Decatur, Ala., says: "To-day has been the gloomiest Sunday in Decatur's history, the sun never refusing its cheerful light to the small crowds at the street corners or on the platform watching the trains fly by them. There are hardly more than one hundred and fifty people in town, and two-thirds of these are colored. The special train, with about fifty refugees, left about midnight last night. It is scarcely probable that any more will be permitted to leave. There were but two cases and no deaths to-day, cheerful news were it not for the fact that the refugees for the week to fasten itself on. One of today's cases is Dr. W. C. Buckley, one of the best physicians in Decatur. The total cases to date are seventeen; total deaths four, as follows: A. D. Spencer, Dr. Bowman, W. L. Prince and O. S. Kilbey. That, no new treatment here: Fred Buckley, Mr. Buckley and son, Mrs. Jones, son and daughter, W. R. Francis, Joseph Graham, Dr. Buckley and three others, names unknown. The Blumker Hotel is still open and feeding all that apply, whether they have money to pay or not. Two restaurants here are doing the same.

DEAD IN THE WOODS.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 23.—Foreman John, with a party of bridge hands on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, reports having discovered the dead body of a man lying in the woods near the track a short distance above Blount Springs, Friday. While his men were going from Hanceville to Blount they saw a man wandering in the woods. The stranger accosted them, and told them he was a refugee from Decatur and sick, he supposed, with yellow fever. They refused to have anything to do with him. Passing near the same place yesterday afternoon, they saw his dead body lying in the woods. People in the neighborhood were terribly alarmed and refused to have the corpse interred.
